WPR Connects Wyoming

Wyoming Public Radio serves as a key emergency alert provider statewide, and delivers crucial Wyoming weather and road reports. Weather is broadcast twice an hour from 5-9 a.m. and 4-7 p.m.; and is reported at the top of the hour for the remaining 16 hours.

WPR reaches 90% of Wyoming and its geographic reach makes it the 3rd largest public radio network in the US. WPR is Wyoming's NPR affiliate and offers a variety of national and local programs. Wyoming Public Radio is part of the federally mandated Emergency Alert System (EAS).

The Emergency Alert System (EAS) is a national public warning system that requires TV and radio broadcasters, cable television systems, wireless cable systems, satellite digital audio radio service (SDARS) providers, direct broadcast satellite (DBS) service providers and wireline video service providers to offer to the President the communications capability to address the American public during a national emergency. The system also may be used by state and local authorities to deliver important emergency information such as AMBER (missing children) alerts and emergency weather information targeted to a specific area.
